

Wonseok Choi
Professor Department of Science in Taxation
Graduate School of Science in Taxation
University of Seoul
wschoi@uos.ac.kr
+82264902101

Background

Dr. Wonseok Choi received his Ph.D. in Business Administration (Tax Accounting) from Seoul National University in 2003. He has been teaching Tax Accounting and Strategic Tax Planning at University of Seoul since 2004. He has served numerous times as an editor and editorial board member for major academic journals in South Korea. He is currently at the chairman of the Department of Science in Taxation and Vice Dean of Graduate School of Science in Taxation.

Experiences

In private sector, he has served as a secretary general of the Korean Taxpayers Union from 2008 to 2017 and then is currently at the president of this civic organization. He has also served as deputy vice-president for planning and vice dean of admissions at the University of Seoul.

In public sector, he has served as a director general for financial improvement at planning and coordination office, Seoul Metropolitan Government in 2013-2014. He has also served as a evaluation committee member of public institutions of the Ministry of Strategy and Finance, a member of the National Tax Administration Reform Committee of the National Tax Service.